Make Small Talk

1 Read the tips on business etiquette. Then read the situations below. Decide if the behavior in each situation is appropriate or inappropriate.

TIPS ON BUSINESS ETIQUETTE

- ▶ Always introduce the most important person first.
- ▶ Use your business card as a way to stay in touch with people you meet. Exchanging and saving business cards can help you "network" later.
- ▶ Being on time is absolutely necessary for business appointments. The rule is to arrive ten to fifteen minutes early. However, for social events, such as business parties, it is considered impolite to arrive early.
- ▶ In major cities, business clothing is usually formal. Blue, black, or gray suits are conservative and always appropriate. In warm climates, neat and comfortable khakis, jeans, or slacks, sometimes with a jacket, are OK. However, the first time you visit a company, it is always best to start with a conservative look.
- ▶ Business conversations often take place during meals. The meals are a time to relax, get to know the other person socially, and then talk a little business. Depending on the person's schedule, these meetings can be at breakfast, lunch, or dinner.
- ▶ Eye contact is very important. Always look at everyone in your conversation group. Move your eyes from one person to another. It makes people feel important and holds their attention.

RIGHT ON TIME

Everyone knows that different cultures have different ideas about punctuality. But one country—Ecuador—is trying something new.

A group called Citizens' Participation has found that being late costs the country about $724 million each year. They report that more than half of all public events, as well as many government appointments and social activities, begin late. The group is trying to make people aware of punctuality and is reminding them to be on time. The government, including the Ecuadorian president, is supporting the effort.

Hundreds of Ecuadorian organizations and companies have signed agreements to be on time. Posters have been put up that remind people: "If you're late, someone else is waiting." One newspaper prints a list of government officials who arrive to events late.

The campaign has generally been well-received by the Ecuadorian people, and it seems to be working. Many businesses have reported that more meetings are now beginning on time.

→ Dressing for Work

HOW CASUAL IS TOO CASUAL?

Thirty years ago or so, most people in the United States, Canada, and Europe didn't think about what to wear to work in an office. Men always wore suits and ties. Women wore suits or conservative skirt outfits. But in the 1990s, that started to change.

It began with "casual Fridays." During the summer, some companies invited their employees to "dress down," or wear more casual clothes to work on Fridays. The policy quickly became popular with employees. After this, it didn't take long for employees to start dressing more casually every day of the week.

Many employees welcomed the new dress policy and the more comfortable work environment that came with it. Etiquette had definitely changed, and suits and ties were rarely seen in many offices. Some employees went as far as wearing jeans, T-shirts, and sneakers to the office. Many people felt that casual attire made the workplace a friendlier place. Co-workers were more relaxed with each other. People enjoyed coming to work knowing it was a comfortable place to be.

Then some people began to change their minds about casual dress at work. Many managers felt that casual dress had led to casual attitudes toward work. Some people started to notice an increase in employees being late to work. If "clothes make the man," as the saying goes, then casual clothes make a casual person who is less committed to company productivity and quality.

One of the biggest reasons why there have been such mixed opinions about dressing down is that there is no real standard for appropriate casual dress. Is it shorts, T-shirts, brightly colored tops, and flip-flops? Is it designer jeans, polo shirts, and trendy sneakers? Is it khakis and sport jackets? Or are Hawaiian shirts and torn jeans OK? Without a casual dress code policy, the etiquette for dress in many companies is beginning to change back to more formal business attire—a style that everyone understands.

Calcium in bones absorbs the most radiation, so bones look white on an X-ray image (also called a radiograph). Fat and other softer body parts absorb less and look gray. Air absorbs the least amount of radiation, so lungs look black on an X-ray.

home a short introduction origins and history recent popularity more about treatments reflexology near you

Reflexology is a natural treatment dating back to ancient times. It is based on the idea that there are zones, or areas, in the feet and hands that are related to other parts and systems of the body. For example, the tips of the toes and fingers are related to the head and neck, and the ball of the foot is related to the heart and chest. A reflexologist applies pressure to specific areas in a patient's feet and hands to relieve symptoms or pain in other related areas.

This type of treatment does not cure or diagnose specific health problems, and it does not involve any medication. Yet many patients find that it successfully relieves symptoms of stress and disease. Reflexology is effective for pain, headaches, and sleeping difficulties, among other ailments. Applying pressure to the feet and hands relieves tension, improves blood circulation, and relaxes muscles. It promotes the natural, healthy functions and well-being of the entire body. Reflexology is often used along with other types of treatments, including conventional medicine.

This gentle therapy is safe and simple. A reflexologist's only tools are his or her hands. Pressure is strong, but not uncomfortable. It's not uncommon for patients to fall asleep during treatments.

A typical treatment session lasts one hour. Treatment is usually focused on the feet for most of the session. A patient is asked to remove his or her shoes and socks, to sit in a comfortable reclining chair, and then to relax as the reflexologist warms the patient's feet with his or her hands and applies pressure to the appropriate parts of the foot. The last ten minutes of the session are dedicated to the hands.

After relieving specific problems, many patients continue a regular program of treatment to maintain good health. Some reflexologists suggest building at least a five-minute reflexology session into every day for long-term relief of stress and pain.

"Dry" cleaning

When you need your delicate garments cleaned, you take them to your local dry cleaning store. You give them your clothes, get a ticket, and after a few hours or a few days, your clothes are as good as new. But do you know what dry cleaning is? Do you know how it first started?

Despite its name, dry cleaning is actually not a dry process. Clothes are washed in liquid chemicals, but without water. (That's why the process became known as dry cleaning.) Dry cleaning is often used instead of washing delicate fabrics by hand. It can also remove stains that can't be removed at home.

The invention of dry cleaning was an accident. In 1855, a Frenchman named Jean Baptiste Jolly made a discovery: A lamp filled with kerosene fell on a greasy cloth in his home (kerosene is a type of oil that burns well). When the kerosene dried, the cloth was cleaner where the liquid had been.

Based on this discovery, people began to use chemicals to clean clothes. But most of these chemicals, such as kerosene and gasoline, could easily catch on fire, so dry cleaning was very dangerous.

In the 1930s, people started to use a new chemical, called perchloroethylene, or perc for short. This chemical cleaned well, was gentle on most fabrics, and most importantly, it didn't catch on fire easily, so it was much safer than the chemicals that were used earlier. It is still used today by most dry cleaners. However, in recent years, some people have been worried about possible health issues related to perc.

While perc does not catch on fire easily, people who work in dry cleaning shops have complained of dizziness, headaches, sleepiness, sore eyes and throat, and other more serious illnesses from the chemical smells. Some new machines have been developed to help keep the fumes from escaping during the cleaning process and to keep the air in the shops cleaner, fresher, and safer.

- _____ 1. No liquid is used in the dry cleaning process.
- _____ 2. Jean Baptiste Jolly was trying to find a new way to clean clothes.
- _____ 3. When kerosene got on the cloth in Jolly's home, the cloth caught on fire.
- _____ 4. Kerosene can clean greasy cloth.
- _____ 5. People stopped using gasoline and kerosene because they were dangerous.
- _____ 6. Perc doesn't burn as easily as kerosene and gasoline.
- _____ 7. Perc isn't used in dry cleaning anymore.

14 Read the article again. Then answer the questions.

1. How is dry cleaning different from the way people normally wash their clothes at home?

2. What chemicals did people use to dry clean their clothes in the late 1800s?

3. Why did people start using perc for dry cleaning?

Letters to the Editor

Stop Book Banning Now!

From Alicia Vohn, age 16

You might think that book banning is a thing of the past. However, it is certainly not the case. If you are looking for a copy of Ordinary People or The Catcher in the Rye in my school library, don't bother. Those books have been removed from the shelves. In fact, according to the American Library Association (ALA), since 1990, over 10,000 books have been banned from schools and public libraries around the country. Many types of books: classics, fiction, non-fiction, award-winning books, and even children's picture books have been objected to by angry parents or banned completely, by either removing them from the schools or preventing their purchase.

Why do books get banned?

The reason people give for removing books from school bookshelves is to protect people, especially children and young adults like me, from content that might be dangerous.

Most banned books contain violent, religious, sexual, political, or racial content or contain offensive language. Some people think that banning such books will discourage children and young adults from developing bad attitudes, speech, and behavior. But, personally, I don't think young people find words or details in books that they have not yet seen or heard in real life!

Who bans a book?

A "challenge" is a formal written complaint requesting that a book be removed from a curriculum or a library. A book can be challenged by any person or group of people who think its content is inappropriate. Once that happens, a group of experts reviews the book to see if it might be harmful to young people. If they decide that it is, the book is removed. However, schools can ban books without such a review. They just choose not to buy the books at all!

Book banning is wrong and should stop! It's wrong to limit young people's access to books. Book banning limits our freedom to make choices! It stops us from examining different ideas and beliefs and learning to form our own opinions. Schools should teach us to be tolerant of others' ideas and respect our differences. How can tolerance be taught in a classroom that bans books with "unacceptable" ideas?

INFORMATION SOURCE: www.ALA.org

1. over 10,000 books have been banned in 1990.
2. if a book is banned, it is not allowed in a school or library.
3. people object to some books because their content might be harmful to young people.
4. young people learn offensive language only from books.
5. anyone can challenge a book.
6. the American Library Association reviews challenges against books.
7. a school must wait for the experts' review before it bans a book.
8. a school can ban a book by not buying it.
9. young people should be free to choose what books they can or can't read.

Read about two books that have been banned from some schools and libraries. Check agree if you agree with the ban and disagree if you don't agree with the ban. Then explain your opinion.

1. Scary Stories to Tell in the Dark by Alvin Schwartz is a collection of short stories for children ages nine through twelve. The stories are filled with horror and scary images that are meant to make the reader jump with fear. The collection includes traditional horror tales, contemporary folklore, and scary stories with surprise endings. Beautifully illustrated with Stephen Gammell's spine-chilling pictures, this series is often considered a page-turner that you won't be able to put down. But this series has been listed as one of the most challenged. Many people don't approve of its violence, and parents worry that the stories and frightening illustrations will terrify their children and cause nightmares.

agree disagree

2. Bridge to Terabithia by Katherine Paterson is a story of two fifth-graders, a boy named Jess and a girl named Leslie. Jess is shy, and he often gets angry or sad. Leslie is a talented and outgoing girl who makes friends easily. Once they become friends, the two are inseparable. Jess shows Leslie his love of art, and Leslie shares with Jess her love of fantasy stories. They create an imaginary kingdom, called Terabithia, in the woods where they spend every day after school. Terabithia is filled with imaginary creatures, and while there, Jess and Leslie pretend to fight fears they face in real life. Although many critics consider this book one of the best novels for young readers, it has often been banned because of the disrespect the children show to adults, their impolite behavior, some offensive language, the confusion of combining fantasy with reality, and the death of a child.

In her 70s, Anna Mary Robertson Moses enjoyed sewing. But as she grew older, it became painful for her. So at age 75, Anna began to paint instead. Many of her early paintings were given as gifts to family members and friends. She also tried to sell a few of her paintings to make a little money. She charged $2 for a small painting and $3 for a larger one.

In 1938, an art collector saw her paintings and bought them all. He was so impressed that he convinced an art dealer to show her paintings in his gallery in New York City. This made many art collectors and museums all over the world interested in her work. She became one of the best-known American artists in the world, with art shows in America, Europe, and Japan.

She became known as "Grandma Moses" and continued to paint until she died at the age of 101. In 26 years she produced over 3,600 paintings. Her paintings show scenes from daily life in rural upstate New York, where she lived most of her life. Some of her paintings were used on Hallmark greeting cards and on U.S. postage stamps. In 2006, a 1943 Grandma Moses painting sold for $1.2 million.

STORM CHASERS

Tornadoes. Hurricanes. Enormous storms. Just reading these words makes people imagine catastrophic events that can cause countless injuries and severe damages. No one looks forward to weather reports or breaking news that announce these natural disasters. No one, except a small group of about 100 people known as "storm chasers."

Who are these people, and what do they do? A storm chaser is a person who tries to get as close to a severe storm as possible. A few storm chasers are scientists who want to learn more about storms and how they develop. They want to be able to learn more so that someday they can better predict when and where storms will occur. With more information, they could help people avoid the catastrophic destruction and high casualties that often happen when huge storms hit. Others are professional photographers, movie makers, or TV reporters. Some are tour guides who take people close to the center of a storm as part of an adventure vacation. Most are just people who are fascinated by nature and chase storms as a hobby.

Storm chasers travel thousands of miles a week in cars loaded with laptops, cameras, videos, emergency supplies, and a lot of scientific equipment. The most famous storm chases occur in the springtime in an area called Tornado Alley. It is in the Great Plains states of the United States—such as Nebraska, Oklahoma, Iowa, and Texas—where severe storms and tornadoes frequently happen.

Storm chasers study weather data and look closely at the sky to guess the timing and location of storms as they form. They hope to be there when a tornado forms and to follow it as it touches ground. If they are lucky, they will catch a tornado at least once in every five to ten trips.

In 1996, the thriller Twister introduced storm chasing to moviegoers. Since then, a lot of people have been fascinated by the topic. There have been TV shows, documentaries, and hundreds of books written about this exciting "sport."

But storm chasing is not for everyone. It is a dangerous hobby. Roads are often wet and dangerous to drive; severe floods can wash away cars; hailstorms can cause injuries and damage to cars; and lightning storms can cause casualties. So why do storm chasers do it? They say that it is amazingly fun, exciting, and always enormously beautiful.

A Family Emergency Plan

The thing about emergencies and disasters is that there usually isn't a lot of time to prepare for them. An emergency can strike any place at any time. Is your family prepared?

The best way to deal with an emergency is to prepare for it before it happens. You can do this by making a family emergency plan. Here are some tips on how to prepare one:

- Put a list of emergency phone numbers, including the police, fire, and emergency medical departments, near every phone. Review with children how to call these numbers.
- Make an emergency supplies kit. This should include non-perishable food, bottled water, flashlights, matches, batteries, blankets, a battery-operated radio, a first-aid kit, etc.

- Teach responsible family members how and when to shut off water, gas, and electricity sources in the house.
- Learn basic first aid.
- Decide what you will take and where you will go if you have to evacuate.
- Decide what to do if your family is separated. Choose a place to meet in case you can't return to your home. Pick a friend or family member who lives out of the area to stay in contact with.
- Regularly review and practice your plans.

SOURCE: www.newport-news.va.us

- Have a plan in case there is an emergency or disaster.
- Write down emergency telephone numbers.
- Gather together some things you might need in an emergency.
- Show young children how to turn on and off the water, gas, and electricity.
- Know how to use the items in a first-aid kit.
- Decide when to evacuate.
- Find a place for everyone in your family to go if you aren't together.
- Practice your plans one time.

Creating Your Life Plan

If you have goals in your life, but no plan to complete them, you will not be successful. That's why in order to have success in school, business, and your personal life, you need a life plan. A plan will help you turn your dreams into reality. To create your life plan, ask yourself two questions: Where am I going? How will I get there?

Where am I going?

To answer this question, follow these steps:

- Create a life map—not an ordinary map, but a map of where you have been in your life and where those experiences can take you. Write down the important events in your life over the past few years. You decide what is important. It is different for everyone. For example, did you get a new job last year that you love? Did you pass an exam? Did you learn something interesting? Did you get married? To see your life in the future, you should first look into your past.
- Next, look carefully at your list. Do you have regrets? Have your tastes changed over time? Planning for the future means making decisions that make you happy and match your interests and talents. Use your past experiences to set your goals for the future. Your life map can help you avoid making the same mistakes or having regrets.
- Finally, set your goals to achieve over the next weeks, months, and years.

How am I going to get there?

Once you've decided on your life destination, you can start following your plan. Here are some tips to help you:

- Break your large goals into smaller ones. Almost any goal, no matter how difficult, will be easier to achieve if you break it down into several smaller goals.
- Focus on your goals and don't get distracted by unimportant things.
- Don't give up. You won't be successful at everything right away, so you should always try again.
- Make friends. It's difficult to succeed if you're alone, so support from good friends is very important.

Once you have created your life plan, go forward with it, but also go back to it. Tastes change. Circumstances change. Don't be afraid to tailor your life to changes in your life.

"A goal without a plan is just a wish."

~ Antoine de Saint-Exupéry

Amelia Earhart

Amelia Mary Earhart was born on July 24, 1897, in Atchison, Kansas. At three years old she went to live with her grandparents who lived fifty miles away. Amelia was a tomboy, and loved snow sledding and climbing trees. She lived with her grandparents until she was ten. At ten she moved back with her parents and her younger sister, Muriel.

Amelia saw her first airplane at the 1908 Iowa State Fair. At this fair, there was a stunt-flying exhibition, and it fascinated Amelia. It was here, as she watched these planes twirling and swooshing, that Amelia fell in love with the idea of flying. Amelia actually had to wait thirteen years to take her first ride in a plane, and just six months after that, she bought her first plane. It was bright yellow and she called it Canary.

Amelia was very competitive, and entered many flying contests over the next several years. She continually broke the records of other aviators. To mention just a few:

In June of 1928, she became the first woman to fly across the Atlantic.

In May of 1932, she became the second person to fly solo across the Atlantic

From August 24 to 25, 1932, she flew a solo nonstop flight from the west coast of the United States to the east coast, making her the first woman to do that.

From April 24 to 25, 1935, she was the first person to fly solo from Hawaii to California.

At the age of forty, in 1937, Amelia Earhart wanted to be the first woman to fly around the world. She and her navigator took off from Oakland, California, and flew to Miami, then through the Caribbean to Brazil and through Africa to India. After India, they flew to Bangkok, Indonesia, Australia, and then Papua New Guinea. From Papua New Guinea, they flew toward Howard Island, 2,200 miles away. They never arrived, and despite extensive searches, they were never found.

No one knows for sure what happened to Amelia and her navigator, but the world knows that Amelia is one of the most important and influential aviators in history.

CHILDREN'S DAY

In 1954, The United Nations General Assembly suggested that all countries set aside a special day for children. The idea behind Children's Day was to encourage all nations to focus on the needs, rights, and well-being of children everywhere. Since then, and in some places even before then, Children's Day has been celebrated in many countries, on different days, and in different ways.

Japan

Children's Day in Japan used to be celebrated separately for girls (on March 3) and for boys (on May 5), but today it's a holiday for all children on May 5. On Children's Day, families with boys often hang carp decorations, since a carp is a fish that symbolizes strength and success. They also display figures that look like warriors, or fighters. People eat rice cakes filled with bean paste and covered with leaves. There are many sporting and art events for children all over Japan on that day.

Korea

Celebrated on May 5, Children's Day is a national holiday in Korea. Many parents don't work and spend the day with their children. Families often visit parks, zoos, and movie theaters because they're free for children on this day. Parents traditionally give their children gifts and money.

India

Jawaharlal Nehru, the first prime minister of India, deeply loved children. His birthday, November 14, became Children's Day in India. Schools celebrate by having cultural programs and handing out treats and snacks. There are competitions and games of all kinds.

Turkey

Mustafa Kemal Atatürk, founder of the Turkish Republic, established April 23 as Children's Day in this country. People enjoy festivals and performances by children. Children replace the president, prime minister, members of the Grand National Assembly, and other officials for one day. They address children's and educational issues.

Samoa

Lotu-Tamiatu, or Children's Day, is celebrated in Samoa on White Sunday, the second Sunday in October. It is both a religious and national holiday in Samoa. Children dress all in white and parade in line from tallest to shortest into church. They perform songs and religious plays and dance for their parents and relatives. Then they return home for a celebration meal. They are honored by their parents by being served first and receiving gifts.

The Wedding Ring

At weddings in many parts of the world, brides and grooms give one another wedding rings. These rings remind them of the commitment they made to one another when they got married. They are also a sign to others that they are married.

No one knows for sure how this tradition started, but there is evidence that it began long ago, in ancient Egypt. Coins at that time had a hole in the center. An Egyptian groom used to place a coin on his bride's finger to show that he would take care of her.

In many ancient cultures, the circle is a symbol of eternity. The wedding ring has come to symbolize endless love and commitment.

Wedding rings have almost always been worn on the fourth finger, but the hand it's worn on depends on where you live. In some cultures, people wear their rings on the left hand, and in others, they wear them on the right.

... RUBE GOLDBERG

Of all the wacky inventions people have designed, none can compare to the innovative creations of an award-winning cartoonist Rube Goldberg. Rube Goldberg was born in San Francisco in 1883. He earned a degree in engineering, but he wasn't interested in it. He preferred drawing cartoons that made fun of the changes that were happening in the early twentieth century.

In the early 1900s, people were busy creating new machines to help make life easier and get things done faster. The U.S. Patent Office was flooded every year with new inventions for absolutely everything. Rube Goldberg saw the humor and dangers in the new inventions that were changing the lives of ordinary people. And so, for over fifty years, he drew cartoons that made fun of the new machines. He drew "inventions" that used simple everyday items—buckets, cups, balls, sticks, etc.—connected to each other in funny ways to get the simplest task done in many complicated steps. Rube Goldberg took the simplest task and using the most low-tech technology, made it the most complicated task with high-tech design. His inventions became so famous that his name has been included as a noun in Webster's Dictionary.

One invention, for example, was the "Self-Operating Napkin," which automatically wipes a person's chin. Here's how it works: A person lifts a soup spoon to his/her mouth. The spoon pulls a string, which makes a larger spoon throw a cracker to a parrot. The parrot jumps to catch the cracker. The stand, on which the parrot was sitting, falls over and makes bird seeds fall into a bucket. The extra weight in the bucket pulls a string, which lights a lighter. The lighter sets off a fire cracker that causes a knife to cut another string. A pendulum that was attached to the string swings back and forth. It has a napkin attached to it, so when it swings, it wipes the person's chin. Thirteen steps make the chin clean, just by lifting a spoon!

Today, in memory of Rube Goldberg, The National Rube Goldberg Machine Contest is held each year. Teams compete to create machines to do the simplest tasks in no less than twenty steps. Recent winning inventions have included a machine to squeeze orange juice, a machine to toast bread, and a machine to turn off an alarm clock.

How to Become an Inventor

Many people think that becoming an inventor is a simple process of three steps: having a bright idea, researching the market for the idea, and then selling that idea to a large company. It's not that simple, however, and can often be a time-consuming, difficult process. So let's take a look at what you need to do to become an inventor.

Main idea: _____

Every invention starts with an idea. Brainstorm your ideas with colleagues, friends, and family. For any idea they like, do research to check that your idea is original. Decide if you want to protect or patent your idea from being copied. Think carefully about this, as you do not want to be an inventor who says, "He wouldn't have been able to steal my idea if I had patented it."

Main idea: _____

So now you have the idea, what's next? Once you settle on the idea for your invention, study the market you want to sell it to. Get to know as much as you can about the customers who will buy your product. Make sure it will be profitable.

Main idea: _____

Once you have identified the market for your invention, write a business plan, possibly create a sample of your product, and then go out and try to sell it. This is a challenging stage because you could meet with a lot of rejection. Keep going and don't give up. Do not lose sight of your goal—seeing your product used and enjoyed by millions.

Main idea: _____

B

Read the two summary paragraphs for the article in Exercise A. Check the one that best summarizes the article.

- Summary 1: Becoming an inventor is not as easy as it seems. It is a complex process that involves many steps, and takes a lot of time and energy. However, success will more likely come to those inventors who keep positive and never give up.
- Summary 2: It is a long and time-consuming process to become an inventor. It involves a lot of steps: brainstorming ideas, checking competition, applying for patents, studying the market, writing business plans, and then going out and selling the idea. The latter can be discouraging at times, but inventors need to stay positive and not give up.

Global Positioning Systems

If you've ever said, "I wish I knew where I was going" or "If only there were some way to find this address" then it may be time to consider buying yourself a Global Positioning System, or GPS.

Main idea: _____

Let's look at some of the uses of a GPS device. Maybe you travel a lot by car and cannot look at a paper map to find your way around. There is a GPS for cars that speaks to you and tells you exactly how to get to your destination. Maybe you're a golfer who has lost his golf ball and you need to find it on the field. There's a GPS for this. How about you're a runner and want to track your speed, distance, and the courses you run. Well, there's a GPS for this, too.

Main idea: _____

What kinds of GPS devices are there? Well, GPS devices come in all kinds of shapes and sizes, and are available in a variety of prices. Some are small and can fit into a pocket, and others are waterproof. And for people who don't like to carry anything extra with them, GPS systems are also available on smart phones.

Read about the Rainforest Flyway Company. Then circle the letter of the answer that best completes each sentence.

Come "fly" over the Rainforest
We'll take your breath away!

Located in Cairns, Australia, Rainforest Flyway is a world leader in ecotourism. We take our guests on a breathtaking "flight" over rainforest trees and straight into the heart of the rainforest for an unforgettable experience.

On the Flyway, you'll experience over 7.5 kilometers of living rainforest while learning about this spectacular place. Did you know that Australia's rainforests are home to over 3,000 different plant species? And some of the trees here are more than 3,000 years old! After this visit you'll understand why it's so important to preserve the rainforests. And you'll see that environmentally responsible travel can be fun, educational, and breathtaking.

Even if you're a world traveler, you've never experienced anything like the Rainforest Flyway. You'll start your unique journey above the rainforest, as you "fly" in a comfortable gondola only a few meters above the trees. Sit back and enjoy the extraordinary scenery. You will be amazed at the breathtakingly rich and lush foliage. And rest assured, there was no damage done to the rainforest ecology during the construction of your gondola. That's why the development of the Flyway took over 40 months to complete!

Your gondola will bring you down into the rainforest itself, where you follow a path to see, hear, and smell the rainforest environment from the ground. Free tours are available several times a day. Tour guides can point out some unusual plants, provide you with interesting facts about rainforest ecology, and answer your questions.

Your Rainforest Flyway experience lasts 90 minutes and ends in the small town of Kuranda, just 25 kilometers northwest of Cairns. Here, you can continue your eco-tour with a visit to the protected areas that 2,000 tropical butterflies call home. You can also buy original arts and crafts made by the people of Kuranda. And if that isn't enough, you can continue on to the wildlife reserves located a short 9 kilometers west of Kuranda to see animals from all parts of the world.

Rainforest Flyway has won numerous awards, including Travel Planet magazine's "Best Ecotourism Destination." Call or visit us online to make your reservations.

Earthquakes are natural disasters that can result in serious injuries, so knowing what to do in an earthquake can save your life. Here is a list of things to remember if you are ever caught in an earthquake. First and most important, drop to the ground when you start to feel the ground shaking. If you're standing up, you could fall and hurt yourself. Second, look for a table or another piece of furniture and take cover. This will help protect you from breaking glass or things that fall. Do not move from that place until the shaking stops. Next, check for injuries and damage. See if you can find your way out. Finally, when the shaking stops, move slowly away from where you are. Be careful not to trip over fallen objects.
